

musicologie music at home

SIMPLY DELIGHTFUL MUSIC LESSONS

Ideas for music making and joy creating activities for you and your family. Challenge yourselves to complete as many as you can! Share pictures and stories with your teacher throughout the month.

How many wonderful sounds can you make when you shake, hit, or rub different materials throughout your house? What rhythm patterns can you explore? How does the resonance of a metal water bottle compare to that of a metal pot? When you use a wooden spoon as a drumstick versus a metal whisk? Record and share!

Take a listening walk (inside or outside), or simply sit quiety, and make a list of all the sounds you hear.

What song did Grandma and Grandpa first hear together? What song was popular the year you were born? Experience music from a variety of genres, thanks to the people who love them the most.

Grand Staff Game! Great for beginner piano students.

Virtual Lessons - Tips for Students

Listen to a song in a foreign language. What do you think the song is about?

Download the app Flashnote Derby and make sight reading practice FUN! Work with your teacher to get started.

Play Candyland - music style

Build your own fish line music board

Write what you think or feel about what the world at the moment. Create a rap or spoken word piece.

Our very own Matt Murphy with a beatboxing how-to circa 2011. Too good!

Listen to flight of bumblebee. What is the bee doing?

Learn jump rope and hand clapping songs and play with family members-- or just learn the songs! Bonus points if you get an older adult to share childhood memories with you!

Write 5 rhythm patterns and say, play and teach them to another family member.

Make up cards with well known songs that everyone will recognize, and play a game of humming charades with your family.

Learn about a famous composer. Write 5 musical facts about the composer and draw a picture.

APRIL